Experience the Gilded Age: World War I, global revolution, and cosmic horror! Told through the eyes of a quirky cast of characters from the Golden Age of Fantastic Art, The Gilded Age is a gritty fantasy setting that tells the tale of the 17th-century Golden Age of Fantastic Art between the end of the industrial revolution and the unearthing of the buried, magical'science' of magic by new'modern' period. Players will experience a rich world of European art and intrigue, facing off against the supernatural and the inherently evil. Play as a gothic detective, a supernatural hero of science, or a titan of industry; all are equal in the exploration of a fantasy world soaked in the realism of the beautiful, brutal, horrific, and magical. The Gilded Age is an RPG game for the modern age. About the Game: "My god, I have fallen on a time of abominations... the very things that I most fear." In the city of Malmonius, the Tattered Knight meets a young orphanage keeper. The child, Laguardia, bears a gift that could cost her life: a portal to the Shadow Realm, corrupted and waiting to be used by Lucifer, King of Hell. The ancient guardian of the Realm is not pleased, and issues a dire warning: the forces that are at work in Malmonius will usher in the Age of Lies and Darkness. In the city of Grayhold, the Gilded Knight begins to investigate a local mystery. The Inn is packed with guests who have all vanished. He questions the innkeeper who speaks of an impostor who flaunts his considerable wealth and brags about his many accomplishments. The Gilded Knight soon finds himself unearthing all manner of gruesome mysteries and violent slayings. It will be a long and grueling journey, for the more he finds out, the more questions he has. The future of the continent lies in the balance. Prepare for the World War that will send you on an adventure across the entire world of Yisgard: finally reveal the origins of the dragon nations and battle the forces of darkness! Learn more about the setting An ebook version of this game is available from the publisher.

For the first time in its 10 year history, the Panzer Corps series is going to thoroughly explore the Pacific Theatre of Operations in the Second World War. This DLC is the first installment in a new series of campaigns which will portray the dramatic events of the Pacific War. The largest DLC to date, Pacific is still the good old Panzer Corps 2 game which fans enjoy and love, but at the same time it's also a new, different and original experience. The Rising Sun At long last Japan, one of the major world powers in the times of World War II, has been added to Panzer Corps 2. With the introduction of Pacific, Japan is playable not only in the new campaign, but also in random scenarios and in Multiplayer, and is also fully available to modders and designers of custom content. In addition to that, the USA faction has also received many new units, with a particular focus on famous carrier-based aircraft. Overall, 70 new models have been added to the game. Naval combat rework In the Pacific theater naval warfare played a prominent and critical role, and thus we needed to expand and add depth to the naval aspect of the game. For this reason, naval game rules have been significantly revamped and extended, and all existing content has been tested and tweaked to work with the new naval system without any glitches. New campaign to explore The new Pacific campaign represents many famous (and some not so famous) battles which took place between. As our players have come to expect, after finishing this campaign, it will be possible to save your core units and bring them to the next part of the series. The full list of scenarios included in this DLC is as follows: Wake Island Philippines '41 Bataan Raids Lae-Salamaua Coral Sea Midway New Guinea Guadalcanal New Georgia Guadalcanal Rabaul Tarawa New Georgia Bougainville New Georgia Guadalcanal Carrier operations in the Pacific The following expansion will then be coming out in succession: • The Aleutians Campaign is scheduled for release on the first of November 2011. • South Pacific followed on the 21st of November. Note: the first part of this Pacific expansion is about to be released, but it is too early to say when South Pacific will be released. Be sure to pay attention to the Panzer Corps Facebook page ( where we post about all the new details and news about the expansion. Also, if you have c9d1549cdd

The bass fishing simulation of your lifetime is here and you will be responsible for landing the largest fish ever caught on a lake in this over 2000 acre lake. You will be able to enjoy your fishing adventure on four different devices; iPad, iPhone, iPod touch and Apple TV. Key Features: - Two day fishing simulation - Any combination of fish species on a day - Each day challenges different areas in the lake - Can try different skill options to see what's best for you - Hunt for muskies and pike - Enjoy bountiful catch options and high fishing quality Game "Fishing Sim World®: Pro Tour - Lake Dylan" Gameplay - Screenshots: Water with Sharks: Alligator shark. A tooth is only half an inch long, but that's enough to finish off any fish. A shark can get to the water-ski boat in a couple of seconds. The Ever Perfect Fish: A powerful and highly-intelligent fish. Its mouth is equipped with an immense and highly-flexible spine, from which is suspended three worms. Longtails: The longtail fish is capable of jumping over three meters into the air, but it can't leap back into the water. Its tail can't be bent, and its predator finder is very good. Infrared: The infrared rays are said to be able to detect the fish and the squid, even at a distance of 10 meters. Wave Fishing: The wind and waves constantly stir the water. In addition, a random fish is generated, and it competes with the waves for the fish. If it can outsmart the waves, it will have a successful catch. Body Slime: Muddy water is the perfect place for the slime. Also, it reduces visibility and causes the fish to feel pain. Fish Spotter: The fish is easy to capture in the dark and to spot on the surface of the water. The spots by an object are more important than the object itself. What's new:

! To say that the vast majority of American residents approve of NASA's budget is like saying the moon is made of cheese. It's literally not possible to find a poll that will back up the idea. Many, in fact, are very suspicious of the whole concept of pro-NASA sentiment. If it is simply manufacturing public support for "their own programs", there would be no need to support NASA's budget out of the general public's vision of good government, right? Too much money going to NASA! No, because if you dig, especially in the last couple years, you will find that the public is not even aware of most NASA stuff, and those who are aware of the programs are neutral, or even anti-NASA. (I wrote about this in an email interview that I had a few years ago with NASA scientists, which can be found here. The full interview is quite long, and of a personal nature - essentially a lot of it is about health care reform.) In any case, NASA's budget is a political issue at home, and it always has been. The "theft" of the Apollo program by Nixon, the alleged "cut off" of the moon program by Reagan, and the $6 billion in what were supposed to be "non-earth" space missions (which was actually just really naive diplomacy for the ears of the world) have all played a part in this, not to mention the highs and lows of the 1970's, when the public eye turned away from the space program in the face of Nixon's order to stop the Apollo lunar landings. On the other hand, you can argue that actually the public does support the program, but that it is divided by partisan affiliation: Democrats want it, Republicans don't. And in reality that seems to be the case - even Republican governors tend to seek NASA funding, but then wonder why NASA's budget is given to Democrats in Washington. But at home, and in the polls, there is not always a neat correlation between party and approval ratings. So rather than the clean narrative of "Bush loves NASA and Democrats don't", the situation looks more complex: the public seems to like NASA, as long as it is portrayed in a positive light. NASA avoids the "don't" in questions, but the public does like the

Welcome to Japan. Population: One. The Extragalactic Human Project operates a fortress in the middle of Tokyo where they protect the remnants of humanity from hostile aliens. During a blackout, you find yourself inside the fortress. Go on a journey to discover the secrets of survival in this futuristic RPG. All IKEA-inspired. A hardcore RPG with tons of gameplay options. The End is Nigh! Show MoreAs Toronto and Vancouver are among the most expensive cities in the world, real estate prices have risen substantially in the past few years. If you're looking for a place to spend a lot of money, Canada is the place to be. If you're looking to invest, however, there are many countries where property is affordable. And according to a new report published by the Halifax-based Centre for Municipal Finance and Policy, Mexico is the cheapest place in the Western world where you can buy property for less than $15,000. Although Mexico has some of the most expensive cities in the world, this doesn't necessarily apply to property prices. And according to the CMFP, the best place to buy property for less than $15,000 is in Cancun. You can buy a house for roughly $9,700 in the Mexican city that's home to the second-tallest tower in the world, the Trump Towers. Other big names in the neighbourhood are Ritz Carlton Cancun. Whether you're a celebrity or not, it's probably a good idea to stay away from Cancun when it comes to property. Tijuana is second on the list and is the capital of the Mexican state of Baja California, a city with one of the highest murder rates in the country. The best value for money property in Tijuana is the hotel Monterrey. For $11,000, you'll have a spacious five-star hotel with ocean views and a restaurant that serves a selection of global cuisine. The most expensive hotel in Tijuana is the Algodonero Tijuana, a luxury skyscraper that costs nearly $42,000 for a room. Real estate is cheap in Colombia Colombia is another country where you can purchase property for cheap. In fact, property prices are 50% cheaper than in Mexico. The Centre for Municipal Finance and Policy used a number of different indexes to determine the value of a single
